National and International Faculty

Major General Paul Alexander
Surgeon General, Australian Defence Force (ADF)

Joining the Army in 1976, MAJGEN Alexander completed his medical training, University of Melbourne in 1978. Several years of clinical training in Victorian hospitals before the first of several regimental appointments. Completing a Masters in Legal Medicine, he is a Fellow of the Australian College of Legal Medicine. Promoted to the rank of Major General on 25 March 2008.

Dr Steven Wolf
Professor and Vice Chairman for Research, Department of Surgery, University of Texas Health Science Centre, United States of America (USA)

Steven's training in burns, critical care, and research is comprehensive. Over the last 15 years he has become an established and world-renowned researcher and clinician in the field of burns, trauma, and metabolism. He has over 238 published research articles.

Associate Professor Peter Aitken
Senior Staff Specialist, Emergency Department, The Townsville Hospital

Senior Medical Coordinator (Disaster Management), Emergency Management Unit, Queensland Health, Chair of the Disaster Sub-Committee, Australasian College for Emergency Medicine. Peter is Associate Professor at James Cook University (JCU), where he coordinates the Disaster Health and Aeromedical Retrieval post-graduate education programs.

Dr Julie Considine
Senior Research Fellow, Deakin University Northern Health Clinical Partnership & Emergency Department, The Northern Hospital (NH), Victoria

Julie has held clinical, education and research roles in emergency nursing over her career. She leads the Deakin University-NH Clinical Partnership, a joint appointment between industry and academic sectors. She manages research programs, supervises higher degree students, and provides education and clinical support in emergency.

Dr Kate Curtis
Faculty of Nursing, University of Sydney and South-Eastern Sydney & Illawarra Area Health Service

After a long stint in the emergency department at Westmead Hospital, Kate is now a Trauma Clinical Nurse Consultant at St George Hospital, investigating the impact of the trauma case manager on patient outcomes. She has a fractional appointment at the Sydney Nursing School, University of Sydney, is a post-doctoral fellow in trauma care and works casually in Wollongong emergency department.

Professor Alexander McFarlane
Professor, Psychiatry and Head of the University of Adelaide Node of the Centre of Military and Veterans Health

An international expert in the field of the impact of disasters and posttraumatic stress disorder. Past President of both the International Society for Traumatic Stress Studies and the Australasian Society for Traumatic Stress Studies. A recipient of the Robert Laufer Award for outstanding scientific achievement in the study of the effects of traumatic stress. In 2008 he was awarded the Organon Senior Research Award for the most significant contribution to psychiatric research in Australia during the preceding five years.

Dr Sam Hawgood
Dean of the School of Medicine & Vice Chancellor for Medical Affairs, University of California, San Francisco (UCSF), USA

Graduated with First Class Honors from the University of Queensland in 1975. Trained in pediatrics with an interest in neonatology. Sam moved to UCSF in 1982 to work with Drs. Tooley and Clements, pioneers in therapeutic uses of pulmonary surfactant in premature babies.

Professor Richard Murray
Dean and Head of School, School of Medicine and Dentistry, James Cook University

Spending 14 years in the Kimberley, Richard had wide-ranging clinical, population health, teaching and research roles working for the network of Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services. He is responsible for leading the development of socially accountable medical and dental education, with a focus on rural and remote communities, the health of Indigenous Australians and tropical medicine.

Professor Richard Hays
Dean of Health Sciences and Medicine, Bond University

Richard has forged a distinguished career as one of Australia's leading experts in medical education. He served as the Foundation Head of School, Foundation Chair of General Practice and Rural Medicine, and the Chair of Medication Education at the James Cook University Medical School, now Dean of Health Sciences and Medicine, Bond University.

Dr Peter Isdale AM
Chief Executive Officer, IMBcom Pty Ltd

Managing Director and Chief Executive officer of IMBcom Pty Ltd, Peter occupies a leading position in the business of commercialising biotechnology, drawing on the research base of one of the largest biotechnology research institutes in Australia - The University of Queensland's Institute for Molecular Bioscience (IMB).

Dr David Kennedy
Director, Australian Philanthropic Programs, The Atlantic Philanthropies (Australia) Pty Ltd

Dave is Director of Atlantic's office in Australia. He is a former associate professor in the Faculty of Health Sciences at the University of Sydney. The Atlantic Philanthropies is dedicated to bringing about lasting changes in the lives of people who are disadvantaged. Worldwide, Atlantic has awarded grants of more than US$5 billion as of the end of 2009.

Sandy Blackburn-Wright
Head of Organisation Mentoring, Sustainability and Community Teams, Westpac

Sandy worked in South Africa in 1988 and 2003 – years coinciding with some of the nation's most tumultuous and significant events and has worked with the public and private sector on transformation and development projects. After working for the European Union, National Treasury, Deloitte and Rio Tinto, in 2005, Sandy joined Westpac.

Professor Angel Lopez
Director, Centre for Cancer Biology and Human Immunology, South Australia Pathology

Angel obtained his medical degree in 1975 from the University of Rosario, Argentina and his PhD in 1981 from the University of London. During his post-doctoral work with the Walter & Eliza Hall Institute he became interested in the control of immunity, inflammation and hemopoiesis by the then newly discovered cytokines and growth factors. In 1985 he joined the Institute of Medical & Veterinary Science, where he continues to work in immunopathology, and performs educational training and medical research.

Dr Carl Walkley
Leukaemia Foundation Phillip Desbrow Senior Research Fellow, St. Vincent's Institute Stem Cell Laboratory, Melbourne

Carl moved to Australia in 2007 after several years as a Research Fellow with Professor Stuart Orkin, Department of Pediatric Oncology, Dana-Farber Cancer Institute & Division of Hematology/Oncology and Stem Cell Program, Children's Hospital Boston, Harvard Medical School, Harvard Stem Cell Institute, Boston USA to take up his position at St Vincent's Institute Stem Cell Laboratory.

All Welcome

Once again this annual RBWH Health Care Symposium showcases the hospital's strength in clinical care, teaching and research.

Particular highlights this year include sessions on trauma and front-line health care, as well as medical education and training. Almost 100 people are participating as speakers and participants in the symposium in one way or another, a very significant contribution from hospital staff but also our invited faculty.

As in previous years the symposium spans the full spectrum of Medicine, Nursing and Allied Health with plenary state-of-the-art presentations and sessions of interest to all areas of the hospital including researchers, trainees and students.

The organisation and planning of this symposium has involved considerable time and effort on the part of the dedicated Organising Committee. I am most grateful to them, to the Private Practice Trust Fund and the RBWH Foundation for financial support and also the continued support of the Hospital Executive.

Again, a stellar cast of national and international speakers will join us for this 19th Annual RBWH Health Care Symposium.

I am sure you will enjoy it.

Professor Lawrie W. Powell AC

Chair, Organising Committee
& Director, Research, RBWH

The Jamieson Oration

Wednesday 13 October 2010

6.30pm-7.15pm

Presented by

Professor Emeritus Stuart Pegg AO

Dr Kenneth G Jamieson (1925-1976)

MS, MD, FRACS, FACS, DS

Kenneth Jamieson was educated at Scotch College, Melbourne and Ormond College, University of Melbourne. Graduating with honours, he was appointed to the Royal Melbourne Hospital, and subsequently to the Alfred Hospital as assistant to the neurosurgeons.

A research scholar at Baker Medical Research Institute at the Alfred in 1953/1954, in 1955, he was appointed as the first visiting Neurosurgeon to the Royal Brisbane Hospital (RBH).

A brilliant diagnostician and surgeon, an outstanding teacher and many University of Queensland graduates will recall his wonderful tutorials, usually in conjunction with Dr John Sutherland. A First Notebook of Head Injury written by Ken, became very popular, and remains a classic.

Under his leadership, the RBH neurosurgical unit developed a world-class reputation, with results especially in the management of extra-dural haematoma better than most published series.

In 1965, at a general meeting of the Royal Australasian College of Surgeons (RACS), Ken moved that the college develop a Road Trauma Committee that would address the epidemic of deaths and injuries resulting from road traffic crashes in Australia and New Zealand. RACS would establish the committee with an enormous impact in both countries e.g. supporting legislation for seat belts, lower blood alcohol levels, helmets for motor and pedal cyclists, introducing many educational initiatives in the management of the injured and promoting the development of systems of care. It was Ken Jamieson's vision that began the process!

He died suddenly at home on 28 January, 1976.
