

Compliance, monitoring and enforcement - Medicines and Poisons Act 2019

Regulatory approach cycle diagram

Queensland Health implements five major activities to meet its responsibilities for administering the regulatory framework for medicines (refer Figure 1).

These activities progress from the types of authorisations that should be in place to deal with medicines; assessing applications to be authorised through substance authorities and granting/refusing authorisations; promoting and supporting compliance through education; monitoring compliance with the legislation; and directing compliance and undertaking enforcement action where required.
