Dunwich – Marie Rose Centre

North Stradbroke Island Beaches

Marie Rose Centre is an outpost of the Redland Hospital Emergency Department in Dunwich on North Stradbroke Island. The facility provides medical care of outpatients and if required transfer of patients to mainland facilities in conjunction with Queensland Ambulance Service.

During the day, the centre is staffed by a Principal House Officer and a nurse. After hours, a nurse and a PHO are 'on-call' for emergencies. Marie Rose Centre is collocated with a Queensland Ambulance Service station.

Marie Rose utilises technology such as Telehealth to provide virtual care for patients. It works closely with the local health care providers on the island including the Yulu-Burri-Ba Aboriginal Health Service and the local GP Practice at Point Lookout.
