Hi Dom,

Thanks for your enquiry. I'll give you a call shortly.

Please attribute the following to a Queensland Health spokesperson:

We are embarking on this reform program from a clinical and governance perspective to ensure our health system is sustainable, innovative and world-class.

The use of external consultants enabled us to launch the program quickly while developing capacity to transition this work to Queensland Health staff. The remaining work will transition to staff from next week.

The business case for change proposes a streamlined organisational structure that supports a progressive and collaborative health system that responds to challenges and opportunities into the future, including the health needs of Queenslanders.

Consultation is underway to provide all of our people within the department the opportunity to have a voice in shaping the future structure and direction.

Hi guys,

In relation to the responses you sent me about a month ago regarding consultants working out of Qld Health and the reforms being undertaken - do these require an update? Or are the figures/information in them still current?

Also, I understand that a business case for organisational change has been presented. Can I please get a copy of this?

Can you please provide any necessary updates by 4pm today.

Thank you,

Subject: MEDIA ENQUIRY | Courier Mail - Qld Health reforms inquiry and business case for change | Deadline 4pm

Good afternoon Shaun,

Please see below an enquiry we received from the Courier Mail regarding the use of consultants working on our reform program and our response.

The response confirms the work program is transitioning from consultants to internal Health staff next week.

Associate Director-General Jasmina Joldic has approved the response.

Please let me know if you have any concerns.
