Hi Brydie

This is what the public health team sent through when I requested the suitability assessment - I've seen a detailed form completed for other hotels so I'll chase that - do you still need it or given planning underway for tomorrow is it no longer needed?

Kind regards

Di

Subject: Grand Chancellor Hotel - Quarantine Hotel suitability inspection on 23/6

Hi George/John

Hannah, Cath and I along with Peter Aitken from QPS undertook a suitability assessment at the Grand Chancellor Hotel on 23/6 at 1000 hrs

- 230 rooms in total
- Smallest room is 29 sqm (4sqm less than Marriott's smallest)
- 195 rooms with balconies – west facing or east facing, allowing direct sunlight for half a day each. No need for fresh air breaks.
- 14 interconnecting rooms (1 King bed and 2 Double beds and two bathrooms)
- 2 accessible rooms
- 4 Superior Suites with bathtubs and a small kitchenette that would work for simple meals like breakfast however there is no oven or cooktop, just a microwave. <https://www.grandchancellorhotels.com/hotel-grand-chancellor-brisbane/rooms/superior-suite>
- All rooms have a bar fridge.
- Hotel staff are readily available to be recalled if required.
- Meals to be delivered to guests using disposable crockery in 'knock and drop' format similar to existing quarantine hotels
- Laundry and fresh linen towels to be provided and left in hallways in bags for guests similar to existing quarantine hotels protocols

From a Public Health Unit perspective, the Grand Chancellor would be ideal as a quarantine hotel. The issue of the relatively smaller rooms is overcome by the fact that 195 rooms have balconies with access to sunlight and fresh air.

A suite of COVID and public health information was provided to the hotel management with Hannah and My phone numbers.

If you are happy with this recommendation, please forward to @police.qld.gov.au

Regards

Steve Beck
