Nitrous Oxide (laughing gas) recovery
Information for adults

You have been given nitrous oxide as a sedative during your dental treatment today. You may be required to remain at the clinic until you have returned to your pre-treatment state.

It may cause you to:
- Feel nauseous or vomit
- Be sleepy or less aware
- Be unsteady or lose your balance
- Not think clearly
- Have a headache.

This is normal. If the symptoms persist or if you have any concerns about your recovery please seek medical advice or contact Caloundra Health Service Dental Clinic on 5436 8801.
