Rural & Remote Research Capacity Building (RRR-Cap) Health Practitioner Location Eligibility

Health Practitioners in rural and remote areas have access to new opportunities to develop skills in research or translate research into solutions for local challenges

What is RRR-Cap?

The Rural and Remote Research Capacity Building (RRR- Cap) scheme was established through recurrent funding from the Health Practitioners and Dental Officers (HPDO) Certified Agreement (No. 4), 2022, and is administered by the Office of the Chief Allied Health Officer (OCAHO), Clinical Excellence Queensland.

RRR-Cap is available to all Health Practitioner disciplines employed under the HPDO Certified Agreement and are working in rural and remote facilities. Eligible Queensland Health facilities are determined according to the Modified Monash Model (MMM) Remoteness Classification Level 3 (large rural towns) up to Level 7 (very remote communities). Previously, eligibility was defined by Category A (rural) and Category B (remote) locations, as defined in HR Policy C42

The following table outlines the current eligible Queensland Health locations, for Health Practitioners interested in applying for one or more RRR-Cap initiatives.

How do I become involved in RRR-Cap strategies?

Access information through the Health Practitioner Research website: https://www.health.qld.gov.au/hpresearch or by contacting the Health Practitioner Research Team in OCAHO at HP-Research@health.qld.gov.au or 3328 9322/9298.
