16 June 2016

Moving tribute to lives lost and lives saved

A moving tribute to the lives lost, and the many lives they transformed, will be held in Buderim on Saturday (18 June).

Sunshine Coast Hospital and Health Service Donation Specialist Nurse Coordinator Shona McDonald said people from throughout the Sunshine Coast would converge at Immanuel Church, Buderim, to honour the organ and tissue donors who make transplantation possible.

“Last year alone 1241 Australians lives were saved through the generosity of 435 organ donors whose families—facing the worst day of their lives—chose to honour the wishes of their loved ones by donating their organs and tissues,” Ms McDonald said.

“They reached out to families they did not know, who were in desperate need. By doing so, they transformed the health and lives of many hundreds of other Australians and Queenslanders.

“In addition to providing life-saving organ transplants, their decisions also restored sight (eye tissue), repaired hearts (valves), helped people walk (bone), and rebuilt the lives of people suffering from life-threatening burns (skin).”

The 7th Annual Service of Remembrance for the Sunshine Coast as will be held at Immanuel Church, 126 Wises Road, Buderim, from 10am on Saturday. The event serves as a reminder to the community of the altruistic spirit of Queenslanders.

Ms McDonald said the service enabled transplant recipients and the wider community to publicly acknowledge the generosity of organ and tissue donors.

“IT is an opportunity to reinforce the message to all donor families that their loved ones have not been forgotten, and their death has meaning on a community as well as a very personal level,” she said.

“It is an opportunity to thank them for their precious gifts.”

ENDS

Editors please note: Families willing to tell their personal journeys may be arranged on request.

Do you know your loved ones wishes for organ/tissue donation? One person can save up to 10 lives. Sign on at www.donorregister.gov.au or visit www.donatelife.gov.au for more information.

Media contact: Alexia Kelly | 5470 5833

Follow us!