In Queensland, advanced training in Rheumatology is offered through a state-wide centralised recruitment and selection process coordinated by the Queensland Rheumatology Advanced Training Network. Successful applicants will be selected and appointed by a recruitment panel considering training requirements, facility preferences and clinical workforce demands.

For information regarding eligibility, training sites, interview and allocation dates, please refer to the Rheumatology Training Program webpage.

RMO application: Step 10 Preferences

To be considered for a position on the Queensland Rheumatology Advanced Training Network, in the main ‘Preferences’ section of the online RMO application you MUST complete your first preference as follows:

- What is your first preferred facility?
  - College/Pathway/Network (Determined)

- What is your first preferred position?
  - Registrar

- What is your first preferred Specialty?
  - Medicine

- What is your first preferred Sub-Specialty?
  - Rheumatology

As up to 5 preferences may be recorded as part of the application, it is recommended that applicants utilise a lower preference to indicate which positions they may be interested in if they are not selected onto the training pathway. You can search for alternative vacancies by using the Positions search tool on the RMO website.

For further information on the individual hospitals including contact details, please consult the Participating hospital contacts and profiles page on the RMO Campaign website.
