Location information

Redcliffe is a growing seaside city and home to approximately 60,000 people. The busy provincial Hospital is just 35 minutes north of Brisbane and only a ten-minute walk from the seafront.

The Hospital provides strong theoretical and practical support while allowing sufficient clinical autonomy for the development of clinical competency and judgement skills.

Redcliffe Hospital offers numerous educational activities including journal clubs, Grand Rounds, unit tutorials/meetings, and RMO lunchtime teaching with plenty of hands on practical sessions. The Hospital has a well-equipped education centre and Skills Development Centre.

Redcliffe Hospital a 260-bed facility offers a range of free public healthcare services supported by highly trained and specialised staff, including:

- Executive Director
- Director of Medical Services
- Director of Clinical Training
- Director Research & Medical Education
- 150 Specialists including Clinical Directors
- 12 Visiting Medical Officers.
