Training preference guide

RMO Campaign 2020

In Queensland, palliative medicine advanced training positions are managed centrally through the Queensland Palliative Medicine Training Pathway. Applicants should consult the Queensland Palliative Medicine Advanced Training webpage for eligibility, role description and accredited training facility information.

New and current trainee applicants interested in applying for a training position, need to complete the Queensland Palliative Medicine Advanced Training Pathway section within the online RMO application.

After you have nominated YES and completed the subsequent questions, you will be asked to select your most preferred training facility/service from the list below for the 1st half of 2020 and 2nd half of 2020. Training placements are usually six months in duration, however in some cases may be up to 12 months. You will also need to select an additional facility preference for either the 1st or 2nd half or the entire 2020 training year.
