Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander

Referral Pathway to Community Health Team

Preventative health care

1. Referral sent to central intake.

2. Referral put on Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Team waiting list by central intake.

3. Referral disseminated to male or female health workers for follow up.

4. Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health worker to activate referral on waiting list and contact patient.

5. On doing home visit, the health worker will do care plan, falls assessment management plan, and registration if required.

6. Assessment completed at home visit if health worker identifies any health issues outside of their scope of practice, they will refer internally or externally onto the below services.

- North Coast Aboriginal Corporation for Community Health
- Department of Human Services (Centrelink)
- Moreton ATSICHS (Aged Care)
- Department of Housing and Public Works
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Legal Services (ATSILS)
- Internal referrals to Occupational Therapist, Social Worker, Home Care Services and Mental Health Service
- Other appropriate government/non-government services.