The standardised physical Emergency Response Packs for rural and remote facilities

The standardised physical Emergency Response Packs (ERPs) are for use in Level 1 and 2 rural and remote health facilities where the Queensland Ambulance Service (QAS) do not provide a fully resourced and staffed service to the community.

The development of the physical ERPs was a result of recommendations following the 2022 review of the RRESS guidelines. The lack of standardised physical packs led to safety concerns from loose or missing items, non-color-coded pockets, and altered contents. The new ERPs help address these concerns by providing a clear, consistent, and comprehensive solution to store emergency response resources consistently and safely. Benefits of the physical ERPs.

Benefits of the physical ERP

- Improved Patient Safety: Color-coded pockets and standardised contents enable quick and easy access to critical items during time-sensitive emergencies.
- Consistency of Care: Standardised packs ensure that clinicians, regardless of their movement between locations, are familiar with the contents and layout, promoting efficient and effective emergency response.
- Enhanced Collaboration: Standardised packs facilitate seamless collaboration between Queensland Health facilities and external partners.
- Comprehensive Contents: The ERPs include all essential items for airway management, breathing support, circulation, and medication administration, as outlined in the RRESS guidelines.
- Colour-Coded Organisation: Clear labelling and colour-coded pockets facilitate rapid identification and retrieval of necessary equipment. Colour-coding is in line with our QAS and RFDS partners.
- Durable and Portable: With durable handles and backpack straps, the packs are designed for rugged use and easy transport.
- Secure Storage: The packs include tab lockable compartments for controlled medications, ensuring compliance and safety.

* NEANN and Fire logistics are divisions of RAPP Australia Pty Ltd. Designers and Manufacturers of Effective, Reliable, and Safe to Use, Emergency Response Equipment.

 Please note stock is not included with the bags. The bags with stock displayed internally are for reference only. All packs are sold separately.

If you are outside of Queensland Health and would like to purchase, or have further information/queries about the bags, please contact:
