7 POLICY

7.1 Permanent employment

Permanent employment involves a fixed contract for a specified number of hours per week, commencing at a given date and extending until the termination of the employment contract. The termination of employment date is determined by resignation, retirement or termination of services for disciplinary reasons.

Unlike a temporary or casual employee, a permanent employee has an ongoing employment contract. Permanent employees are to be given a letter of appointment.
Permanent appointments are subject to a probationary period of six months on initial appointment for:

- visiting medical officers
- senior medical officers
- nursing officers
- professional officers
- dental officers
- technical officers
- health practitioners.

All other permanent appointments are subject to a probationary period of three months.

No probationary period is served on promotion. Refer to Probation HR Policy B2.

7.2 Conversion of temporary base grade employees to tenured status

Temporary and casual Queensland Health employees in the operational and administrative streams may be recruited to permanent positions in accordance with the provisions of Recruitment and Selection HR Policy B1.

7.3 Appointments – permanent and/or temporary – commonwealth and state funded programs

Employees engaged within commonwealth or state funded programs may be eligible for appointment as a permanent employee in accordance with specific criteria. Refer to Appointments – Permanent and/or Temporary - Commonwealth and/or State Funded Programs HR Policy B24.
