

6. Health and safety committees

Consultation may be undertaken through various means including via HSRs and HSC, an HSC may assist with consultation, cooperation and coordination regarding WHS between the Executive Leader and workers within the accountability area.

Each accountability area is required to have a process to establish an HSC if requested by an HSR or five or more workers. This process should:

- ensure that at least half of the members of an HSC are workers that have not been nominated to represent the Executive Leader.
- ensure workers are represented from across the accountability area service/delivery areas to ensure solutions developed are appropriate to all types of environments. HSCs may also refer to subject experts as guests for discussion on specific issues.
- ensure effective communication and consultation for:
  - relevant WHS information
  - workplace changes that affect or are likely to affect WHS of workers and others
  - other issues affecting or likely to affect the WHS of workers and others
  - set WHS strategies, and if appropriate, local WHS procedures and other local documentation relevant to the accountability area
  - advise the Executive Leader on WHS risk management, issues resolution and dispute management, WHS performance and WHS improvement opportunities
- In the event a WHS issue tabled with an HSC cannot be resolved within the accountability area it is required to be referred to the Chair of the Queensland Health Work Health and Safety Advisory Committee.

7. Shared duty holders

Consultation, cooperation and coordination between shared duty holders is required as per QH-IMP-401-1:2020 Health, safety and wellbeing planning standard.
